● As an Artist

I devote myself fully to every piece I create — from first sketch to final touch. Where detail matters and quality is never compromised.

● About Me

Born in 1987, I am a self-taught visual artist working professionally since 2015. My signature style has evolved to merge realism, surrealism, and impressionism in both portraiture and conceptual compositions.

While my foundational portfolio features intricate work using graphite, colored pencil, pastel, or mixed media, my current focus is working primarily with oil on canvas. Each piece is crafted by hand, aiming to capture both the subject's likeness and an underlying sense of story.

In 2025, I moved to Toronto, Canada, where I now continue my practice as the artist behind MoonArt Gallery. My work ranges from custom commissions to gallery-focused original pieces, always centered on the belief that fine art should feel both timeless and personal.
